The alliance is also that of the mobilized ports - I welcome the commitment made in this respect by EP as President of the Association Internationale des Villes Portuaires (International Association of Port Cities) - which is completely in line with this logic.

Because the port cities, in particular, the electrification work carried out by these cities with which you have engaged, enables us to reduce 90% of the polluting emissions of ships at the quayside and the technologies are there.

So now it is a question of planning, of investments, but here too it is an agenda of solutions.
