

PRESS RELEASE

AIVP Days in Venice (Italy), 16 and 17 November 2023

in partnership with the North Adriatic Sea Port Authority - Ports of Venice and Chioggia.

Le Havre, 24 October 2022

The Board of Directors of AIVP, meeting on the 21st October 2022 in Le Havre, under the chairmanship of Mr Edouard Philippe, unanimously approved the bid of the port city of Venice (Italy) to host the AIVP Days 2023. This major annual meeting of AIVP will enable many exchanges and debates to take place around the challenges of the sustainable port city, as presented in the AIVP Agenda 2030. Venice today has the ambition to become one of the world references in terms of sustainability.

Scheduled for 16 and 17 November 2023, the AIVP Days will be organised in close collaboration with the North Adriatic Sea Port Authority - Ports of Venice and Chioggia, members of AIVP since 2016, as well as with the support of other local partners.

This event will also be the occasion for AIVP members to gather for the General Assembly in order, amongst other things, to proceed with the election of the new members of the AIVP Board of Directors and the Executive Board of AIVP.

There will be more information on this subject in the coming weeks.

About AIVP:

AIVP is a non-governmental organisation that has been bringing together urban and port stakeholders and their partners from all over the world for over 30 years. Its aim is to improve relations between cities and ports through mutual cooperation, promoting more sustainable, more responsible, and more innovative urban, port, and economic development that puts citizens first. Today, AIVP has nearly 200 members, drawn from three groups: local communities and authorities, port authorities, and industry professionals (from the parapublic and/or private sectors).
